Grosse Ile Township Manager Speaks To Committee

On April 29th, David McKarski, the Grosse Ile Township Manager, presented his views and answered questions on the concept of hiring a township manager for Huron Township.

The committee established by the township board to study this idea, had invited Mr. McKarski to attend the meeting that was held at the Krzyske Center. Only eight citizens attended the meeting which was disappointing to the committee but likely reflected the lack of interest generally held by the community on the subject. The meeting was taped by the cable commission so the community will have an opportunity to view the meeting on the public access channel.

Mr. McKarski began his remarks by informing the committee that there are 1,252 townships and only 100 have the township manager/superintendent form of government. He did not explain why the vast majority of townships did not have a manager, but he did speak of the benefits as he perceived them.

He spoke of the high level of professionalism that exists between the board and his office. He has found that if the manager is objective and eliminates the political aspect of an issue, the board is well served. He tries to stay out of the politics of the issue preferring to leave that aspect to the board members.

He felt that a township manager could take over the day-to-day problems and this would allow the board members to focus more on policy and the "big picture." He advised that the department heads and the board and commissions in his township liked the manager position.

He spoke of the funds that his office was able to generate for his township and felt this was a prime example of how the position could more than pay for itself.

He admitted in his township, the supervisor was part time and that in almost all of the manager townships, the supervisor was also part time. He did not speak about the connection between part-time officials and the hiring of a manager but the connection was clearly there. In Huron Township, the supervisor is a full-time position.

The committee will continue to discuss the issue of a township manager and will likely report back to the township board in the near future.

Commissioner Patterson Reports Progress

by MELISSA McLAUGHLIN
Coordinator of Constituent Services

After two years of intensive work by Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson and his staff, and unyielding pressure by the residents of Huron and Romulus concerning noise problems at Metro Airport, a major breakthrough was recently announced.

On Wednesday, April 22, 1998 at a special meeting called by the Romulus City Council, Colleen Pobur, Director of the Neighborhood Noise Compatibility Program conceded a provision in the noise mitigation contract had to be re-evaluated.

The original provisions called for all properties built and owned prior to the PART 150 reconciliation date of November 29, 1992 would be included in the noise mitigation program. Those built after, or purchased after the November 1992 cut off were to be excluded. Commissioner Patterson and his constituents insisted that this was inherently unfair to the many residents who had purchased existing (built prior to November 1992) properties after the cut off. Especially since the noise insulation, purchase insurance phase of the PART 150 plan had not even begun until the fall of 1997, and was not available for residents to sign up for until the end of 1997!

They maintained a lot of decisions can face a property owner in a five-year period of time that could affect their ownership of a property. Any decision to sell their property would, under the old provisions of the contract, automatically exclude their home and future owners from any relief from the airport noise.

According to the concession made by Pobur, the changes to the contract will now include all eligible properties built before November 1992 regardless of ownership history.

"We consider this a major breakthrough in bringing more fair and equitable service to the affected residents surrounding Metro Airport," said Melissa McLaughlin, who has headed up Commissioner Patterson's efforts to resolve noise issues for Romulus and Huron.

"We doubt, without the pressures and work done by Commissioner Patterson, his office and especially Melissa McLaughlin, the citizen-based Noise Steering Committee, local resident's voices, Huron Township's Board and Romulus' City Council, that this first step would never have been made," Huron Township Supervisor, David Glaab said.

There is still much work to do however. Many residents at the April 22nd meeting in Romulus expressed frustration at being "outside of the contours," and therefore ineligible for any noise mitigation program dollars. No mention was made at the meeting of Senate Bill 832, now in committee in Lansing, authored and sponsored by State Senator, Loren Bennett (R-Canton) which addresses just those resident's concerns.

Briefly stated, under SB-832, people outside of the official noise contours could appeal to a locally appointed board of representatives for relief from the noise. Additionally, local communities that have suffered a loss of tax base from the airport could petition this board for relief. The funding for this would come from the current parking excise tax that was granted to Wayne County in 1987 (PA248) by the state legislature (for further information about this tax, contact Senator Bennett). This tax would generate about $12 million annually to provide relief to and for many people and communities. Communities and citizens are encouraged to contact their state representatives to urge their support of this crucial bill.

Airports are here to stay, but there is no reason they need to destroy the quality of life for residents and their communities. Continued pressure on the Wayne County Neighborhood Noise Compatibility Program, on Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara and on your state and federal representatives will yield continued positive reforms of the current plan.

When OK Is Not OK

by RON WHEELER
Freelance Writer

A breakdown of civility is at the bottom of all the discussion recently about "road rage," "airline rage" and other rages. Rage is the end result, but it is preceded by a decline of courtesy. When we fail to acknowledge the basic humanity of one another it frees us to treat them in a callous manner. A friend of mine, who has regular contacts with the public, is concerned with the lack of courtesy. She volunteers for Travellers Aid Society and one day a young girl approached the booth and asked, "Where's TWA?" My friend responded and the girl gave her a vacuous stare and said, "OK." If this was an isolated case it would not merit comment, but half the people she helps in the course of a day use the terms and its use is not limited to the young.

OK, okay and other variations have been in use since 1860 and it takes various forms as an adjective, adverb, noun and verb. It is acceptable for all levels of discourse unless, of course, one is taking a college freshman English course. It does not replace Thank You – at least, not yet!

Somehow we appear to have lost the way. Common courtesy is the bond that holds society together and at the same time allows us ample room so we're not at each other's throat. Other societies have learned that we must respect each other's humanity for mutual survival – that we do not have to like the other person, or even like what they are doing – but we can respect their actions and choices without breaking their necks. A simple "excuse me" allows one to invade another's privacy or space. And a simple "thank you" acknowledges the effort the other person made on one's behalf without resorting to violence.

One can argue that language is dynamic and always changes, and that is certainly true. For example, in the 1930's the popular euphemism for money was dough. By the beatnik years of the 1960's it had risen and everyone wanted "bread." This is a logical progression of a slang term – street talk if you will – and it serves a need, but it is not appropriate for polite discourse. The substitution of

"OK" for "Thank You" borders on the barbaric. It allows one to be callous and indifferent to the needs of others.

Positive feelings, which come from the heart, are difficult and sometimes embarrassing to articulate; negative feelings (fear, anger, contempt or disdain) pour forth with hardly any conscious thought. We not only seem to express ourselves more easily in a negative way, but seem to derive greater enjoyment from it. Perhaps in a number of years the connotation of OK may change and will be acceptable as a substitute for Thank You, but for the present the next time some idiot cuts me off with his or her car I'll just smile and say OK!

Dinner For Mom

Have I got the perfect Mother's Day gift for you! Why not treat mom to dinner and the theater. On May 9, 1998, the Huron Band Boosters will be sponsoring a spaghetti dinner as a fundraiser to benefit all our band students. This will take place in the high school cafeteria before the Huron Civic Theater's production of "Gypsy." The cost of the dinner will be $5 for adults and $3 for children under ten. We will be serving spaghetti, salad, bread, dessert and a beverage. This delectable dinner will be prepared by the Huron Band Boosters and served by our Huron band students.

We are also offering a special package which would include our spaghetti dinner and admission to the Huron Civic Theater's "Gypsy" at a reduced rate of $14 for adults and $10 for kids under ten.

Please call and reserve your space at the dinner and possibly the play, as soon as you can. You can call 654-8407 or order tickets from any junior high or high school band students. Tickets for the dinner and play will be sold at the door the evening of the performance but without the discount.

So come and support the Huron band program, the Arts, and mom!

Remember, May 10th is Mother's Day!
